Aims:

At Blue Coat Infant & Junior Federation, we aim to provide an inclusive learning environment, embedded within a Christian ethos, where every learner is valued and respected. Our broad, balanced, skills-driven curriculum and enrichment activities provide opportunities for everyone to achieve and succeed, regardless of background and circumstances.

Objectives:

- To ensure that children with special educational needs are identified and supported as early as possible.
- To make appropriate provision to overcome all barriers to learning and ensure that children with SEND have full access to a broad, balanced and relevant curriculum including an appropriate curriculum for the foundation stage, national curriculum and religious education.
- To ensure that our school has access to internal and external agency support to meet the needs of individual children. Some of these services include Educational Psychology service, Speech and Language Therapy, School Health, CAMHS (Children and Adolescent Mental Health Service), NIAT (North Star Inclusion Advisory Team).
- To promote an ethos of high expectations and inclusion (including a multi-sensory approach to learning) and equal opportunities for pupils with special educational needs with every teacher being a teacher of children with SEND.
- To ensure the highest level of integration for physically disabled children.
- To keep parents fully informed and help them to take an active part in supporting the needs of their child.
- To create an environment where pupils can contribute to their own learning and voice their opinions of their own needs.

Identifying Special Educational Needs

Definition of Special Educational Needs (SEN) taken from section 20 of the Children and Families Act 2014:

A child or young person has SEN if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them. A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if they:

a) Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age; or

b) Have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post-16 institutions.

A child under compulsory school age has special educational needs if they fall within the definition in (a) above when they reach compulsory school age or (b) would do so if special educational provision was not made for them.

Children must not be regarded as having a learning difficulty solely because the language or form of language of their home is different from the language in which they will be taught.

Definition of disability: Many children and young people who have SEN may also have a disability under the Equality Act 2010 – that is ‘...a physical or mental impairment which has a long-term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.’ This definition provides a relatively low threshold and includes more children than many realise: ‘long-term’ is defined as ‘a year or more’ and ‘substantial’ is defined as ‘more than minor or trivial.’ This definition includes sensory impairments such as those affecting sight or hearing and long-term health conditions such as asthma, diabetes, epilepsy and cancer. Children and young people with such conditions do not necessarily have SEN but there is a significant overlap between disabled children and young people and those with SEN. Where a disabled child or young person requires special educational provision, they will also be covered by the SEN definition.

TYPES OF SEN

SEN is divided into four broad areas of need:

Communication and Interaction – this includes children and young people with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) who have difficulty in communicating with others. This may be because they have difficulty saying what they want to, understanding what is being said to them or they do not understand or use social rules of communication. Children and young people with ASD, including Asperger’s Syndrome and Autism, are likely to have particular difficulties with social interaction. They may also experience difficulties with language, communication and imagination, which can impact on how they relate to others.

Cognition and Learning – support for learning difficulties may be required when children and young people learn at a slower pace than their peers, even with appropriate differentiation. Learning difficulties cover a wide range of needs, including moderate learning difficulties (MLD), severe learning difficulties (SLD) or profound and multiple learning difficulties (PMLD). Specific learning difficulties (SpLD) affect one or more specific aspects of learning. This encompasses a range of conditions such as dyslexia, dyscalculia and dyspraxia.

Social, mental and Emotional Health - children and young people may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated as well as displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour. These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression, self-harming, substance misuse, eating disorders or physical symptoms that are medically unexplained. Other children and young people may have disorders such as attention deficit disorder, attention deficit hyperactive disorder or attachment disorder.

Sensory and/or Physical Needs – some children and young people require special educational provision because they have a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of the educational facilities generally provided. These difficulties can be age related and may fluctuate over time. Many children with disabilities such as vision impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI) or a multi-sensory impairment (MSI) will require specialist support and/or equipment to access their learning.

Behavioural difficulties, slow progress and low attainment do not necessarily mean that a child or young person has SEND and will not automatically lead to a pupil being registered as having SEND.

Our Graduated Approach to SEND support

Class teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress of all pupils in their class. They ensure all children have access to high quality teaching, differentiated to meet children's individual needs. They will track the progress of each child to identify, plan and deliver any additional help they may need (this could be things like targeted work, additional support, adapting resources etc.) and will liaise closely with the school Inclusion Team as necessary. They will ensure that all members of staff working with your child in school are aware of your child's individual needs and/or conditions and what specific adjustments need to be made to enable them to be included and make progress.

Class teachers, supported by the Inclusion Team and Senior Leadership Team, make regular assessments of progress for all pupils. These seek to identify pupils making less than expected progress given their age and individual circumstances. Where there are concerns, these are discussed with parents and progress is tracked, monitored and reviewed using an Assess Plan Do Review cycle. If, despite the changes and additional input, the child is not making progress they will be placed on the SEND register and appropriate interventions put in place to receive SEND support.

SEND Support

The aim of SEND support is to help ensure that effective provision is put in place and so remove barriers to learning. The support provided consists of a four part cycle: Assess-Plan-Do-Review

Assess

This involves analysis of the pupil's needs using the class teacher's assessment and experience of working with the pupil, details of previous progress and attainment, comparisons with peers and national data, as well as the views and experience of parents. The pupil's views will also be considered. This assessment will be reviewed regularly to help ensure that support and interventions are matched to need, that barriers to learning are clearly identified and being overcome. Where external support staff are already involved, their work will help inform the assessment of need. Where they are not involved they may be contacted, if this is felt to be appropriate, following discussion and agreement from parents.

Plan

If it is decided to provide a pupil with SEND support, a Support Plan will be drawn up with individualised targets in consultation with the teacher, year group leader and SENDCO and parents/carers to agree the adjustments, interventions and support that are required as well as the expected impact on progress. Plans will also include ways parents can support children at home to reinforce or contribute to learning. All those working with the pupil will be informed of their individual needs, the support that is required, any particular teaching strategies/approaches that are being employed and the outcomes that are being sought.

Do

The class teacher remains responsible for working with the child on a day-to-day basis. They will retain responsibility even where the interventions may involve group or one-to-one teaching away from the main class teacher. They will work closely with support staff to plan and assess the impact of support and interventions and how they can be linked to classroom teaching. The Inclusion Team will support the class teacher in the further assessment of the child's needs and advise on the effective implementation of support.

Review

Reviews of a child's progress will be made regularly to evaluate the impact and quality of the support and interventions. These will be carried out by the SENDCO and Year Group leader in liaison with the class teacher. They will revise the support in light of the pupil's progress and development, making any necessary changes in consultation with parents and the pupil.

Where a pupil has an Education, Health and Care Plan (see below), the local authority must review that plan as a minimum every twelve months.

Referral for an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP)

If the needs of the child are so complex and require multi-agency support, the school or parents may consider requesting an Education, Health and Care needs assessment.

The decision to make a referral for an Education, Health and Care Plan will be taken at a progress review in consultation with parents, school, Health professionals and outside agencies. The Local authority will expect to see evidence of the graduated response approach taken by the school as part of SEND support and the impact of support received so far.

The request will be considered at a panel made up of a group of professionals from education, health and social care about whether an Assessment should be carried out. If agreed, an assessment is carried out and referred back to panel to make the decision about whether an EHCP is appropriate. Parents have the right to appeal against a decision not to initiate a statutory assessment leading to an EHCP.

Once the EHCP has been completed and agreed, it will be kept as part of the pupil's formal record and reviewed at least annually by staff, parents and the pupil. The annual review enables provision for the pupil to be evaluated and, where appropriate, for changes to be put in place, for example, reducing or increasing levels of support.

Managing Pupils Needs on the SEND Register

All children on the SEND Register will have a Pupil Profile, which provides details about progress, any interventions and additional support, areas of strengths and weakness, contact details of external agencies involved and any other relevant information e.g. attendance. The Pupil Profile is designed to be a working document which is updated regularly to reflect the current needs of the child.

In addition, pupils will have termly Support plans which identify targets as part of the Assess-Plan-Do-Review cycle. These are reviewed three times a year, with parents and pupils being involved in setting new targets. Class teachers are responsible for evidencing progress according to the outcomes described in the plan. The Inclusion Team supports in identifying appropriate interventions whilst year group leaders keep provision maps as a way of recording access to interventions and outcomes.

Specialist Support

The Inclusion Team ensures that children have access to appropriate external support. Parents and carers will always be involved in any decision to involve specialists before any referral documentation is completed. The involvement of external professionals and what was discussed or agreed will be recorded and shared with the parents and teaching staff supporting the child in the same way as other SEND support.

Criteria for exiting the SEN Register/Record

If it is felt that a pupil is making progress which is sustainable then they may be taken off of the SEND register. If it is agreed to take the pupil off the SEND register, all records will be kept until the pupil leaves the school and passed onto the next setting. The pupil's progress will continue to be monitored. If it is felt that the pupil requires additional assistance at any time then the procedures set out in this policy will be followed.

Supporting pupils and families

Further information about SEND support can be found on the Local authority websites <http://www.mywalsall.org/walsall-send-local-offer/> or <https://go.walsall.gov.uk/>

Information, Advice and Support Service (SEND) (formerly Walsall Parent Partnership Service) is a statutory service provided by Walsall Council for parents and carers of children and young people who have or may have a special educational need (SEND). They provide free confidential information, advice and guidance in relation to special educational needs: iassend@walsall.gov.uk or <https://www.wcld.co.uk/>

Supporting pupils at school with Medical Conditions

Pupils at school with medical conditions will be supported appropriately so that they have full access to education, including school trips and physical education. Some children with medical conditions may be disabled and where this is the case the school will comply with its duties under the Equality Act 2010. Some may also have special educational needs and may have an EHCP which brings together health and social care needs, as well as their special educational provision and the SEND Code of Practice (2014) is followed. The school has a policy for Supporting Pupils at School with Medical Conditions.

Training and Resources

The senior leadership team ensure that training opportunities are matched to school development priorities. We attend regular training updates from North Star Inclusion Advisory Team (NIAT). Whole school training is regularly delivered through a programme of Inset sessions.
